

This is a python project about Pdf File Reader. It can take multiple files and then ask user to choose among them which file is to be read. After the file is read it can again ask the user if he or she wants to read any file. If not it will exit.

This find its application basically for the visually impaired people. It is an advantage for them as they can just listen to the entire pdf and acquire knowledge.